

TIPS FOR WRITING YOUR GRANT APPLICATION

Welcome!

We are excited that you are considering applying for a grant from the Ann Bancroft Foundation!

Before Starting Your Application You Will Need...

- A dream/vision that you have for an activity or project or a goal you are striving toward
- A mentor who will support your dream and assist with your application.
 - A mentor can be a family friend, neighbor, teacher, or other trusted adult
 - A mentor cannot be an immediate relative (parent, sibling, aunt/uncle) or someone who works for the activity provider (a coach/instructor)
- An activity provider
 - This is the person who has organized the activity (dance studio, sports team)
 - Think of this as the person that you pay to participate in the activity

Example

- Ana loves math and science. She dreams of working in a lab and discovering new medicine when she is older.
- Ana asks her after-school teacher to be her mentor for her application.
- Ana and her parent found a science discovery camp that she wants to go to this summer.

When filling out your application...

- Make sure to fill out each of the prompt questions as best as you can
 - Remember, your audience does not know who you are. Make sure to include details so your audience can follow what you are telling them.
- Check your spelling and grammar
- Check for complete sentences to ensure you finish your thoughts responding to the questions
- Make your responses your own – We want to hear from the grant applicant about their experiences and dreams
 - Including details about yourself is how the readers get to know you as a person
- Keep the font and type-size consistent in your application
- Each question has a suggested number of sentences, use those as a guide when filling out your application
- Be specific in what your activity is

Example Question and Response

Q: Tell us about a big, bold dream that you have. How do you think this activity will help you accomplish and achieve your goals and/or dreams?

When I grow up, I want to be a scientist and work in a lab. One day, I hope to make a huge medical discovery, like curing cancer or another illness. By going to this science camp, I will get to meet other scientists and learn what it's like to work in the field, meet new friends, and explore different areas of science. One of my favorite things about science is that you are always learning something new. This camp will help me grow my interest in science and explore what else is out in the scientific field.

Final Tips!

- Consider including extra materials with your application. While not required, pictures or videos of you doing your activity, a writing sample, or anything else relevant to your activity are fun to see and make your application stand out!
- Take your time and don't rush through the application
- Make sure your mentor is fully on board before the deadline so they can complete their part. Their responses matter!
- If the applicant is unable to type on a computer, we ask that a parent help fill out the application by typing answers, but the responses are coming from the applicant.

HOW TO FILL OUT AN ANN BANCROFT FOUNDATION GRANT APPLICATION

How to Find The Application

- Go to our website at <https://www.annbancroftfoundation.org/>
- Select drop-down in the right corner, then “Programs” and click on “ABF Grant” OR click “Learn More” on the banner.
